

best possible deal for the taxpayer—because of the scoring rules. GSA should be able to, on a project by project basis, determine the most cost effective and efficient way to finance a particular Federal real estate transaction. My bill will give GSA this ability. In the long term, H.R. 1325 will save the taxpayer hundreds of millions of dollars. I urge my colleagues to support the bill.

STATEMENT IN SUPPORT OF
BROWDER-CASTLE AMENDMENT
TO H.R. 1215

HON. MICHAEL N. CASTLE

OF DELAWARE

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, March 28, 1995

Mr. CASTLE. Mr. Speaker, today my colleagues GLEN BROWDER, FRED UPTON, BILL ORTON, BILL MARTINI, and I are filing an amendment to H.R. 1215, the Tax Relief Act of 1995. Our bipartisan amendment would condition the implementation of the tax cuts in the bill on enactment of legislation that will result in a balanced budget in 2002. Under our amendment, the tax cuts could take effect as soon as the Office of Management and Budget certifies that legislation has been enacted into law that puts us on a glide path toward a balanced budget. The tax cuts could be rescinded if we do not achieve specific deficit reduction targets in the subsequent fiscal years.

In short, if Congress and the President have the courage to pass a budget reconciliation bill this year that lowers the discretionary spending caps and makes the necessary program changes to end the runaway growth in entitlement programs like Medicare and Medicaid, then the tax cuts would begin on the same timetable as proposed in the tax bill.

We strongly support reducing the tax burden on the American people, but we believe our constituents have sent us an unmistakable message: cut spending first. It is not responsible public policy to enact tax cuts before Congress has fully faced up to the tough decisions that have to be made to bring government spending in line with its revenue. While most Americans would certainly like a tax cut, public opinion polls indicate that Americans place a higher priority on deficit reduction. These polls are reinforced by the actual comments of many individual Americans who appeared at the series of field hearings held by the House Budget Committee earlier this year. In Ohio, Arizona, South Carolina, New Jersey, and Montana Americans revealed a common sense skepticism about indulging ourselves today while promising to ease the future debt burden on our children. They want spending cut first. If Congress can actually perform that difficult task then they'd welcome a tax cut.

We believe it is imperative that we do not let them down. If Congress approves $190 billion in tax cut this year, but then finds itself unwilling or unable to make the tough choices to reduce spending, we will not only add hundreds of billions of dollars to the national debt but we will further damage the voters' faith in their representatives. We believe that tax cuts and spending cuts must go together. The benefit or reduced taxes on families and businesses should be our reward for tackling the difficult decisions necessary to reduce Federal spending to the point where we can actually achieve a balanced budget.

While our amendment requires a tough standard to be met, it does provide a real reward. If Congress is willing to make all the tough choices to reduce spending this year and the President signs those changes into law, the tax cuts could begin without delay. The tax benefits would continue as long as the Government meets its annual deficit reduction milestones on the way to a balanced budget. These targets would force Congress to ensure that it is really saving money and not just playing budget games to delay real cuts.

Tying tax cuts to deficit reduction brings the American people directly into the process. They will be reminding their representatives to reduce spending so they can see the results on their tax forms and in their pocketbooks. We would all have an interest in making sure the budget process succeeds.

This amendment is an insurance policy for deficit reduction. It is consistent with the Contract With America and our pledge to cut spending first. It is supported by a bipartisan coalition of Members and it just makes sense. We will ask the House Rules Committee to make this amendment in order when the House considers H.R. 1215 next week. I urge
